PREFACE

The Legislative Research Commission, established by Article 6B of Chapter 120 of the General Statutes, is a general purpose study group. The Commission is co-chaired by the Speaker of the House and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and has five additional members appointed from each house of the General Assembly. Among the Commission's duties is that of making or causing to be made, upon the direction of the General Assembly, "such studies of and investigations into governmental agencies and institutions and matters of public policy as will aid the General Assembly in performing its duties in the most efficient and effective manner" (G.S. 120-30.17(1)).

At the direction of the 1987 General Assembly, the Legislative Research Commission has undertaken studies of numerous subjects. These studies were grouped into broad categories and each member of the Commission was given responsibility for one category of study. The Co-chairs of the Legislative Research Commission, under the authority of G.S. 120-30.10(b) and (c), appointed committees consisting of members of the General Assembly and the public to conduct the studies. Co-chairs, one from each house of the General Assembly, were designated for each committee.

The study of State Publications was authorized by Section 2.1(46) of Chapter 873 of the 1987 Session Laws (1987 Session). That act states that the Commission may consider Senate Bill 1119 in determining the nature, scope and aspects of the study. Section 1 of Senate Bill 1119 reads in part: "The Legislative Research Commission may study ... (1) Whether the publications of each State agency are necessary and serve an important purpose in North Carolina ... (2) Whether the scope of distribution of these publications is too broad, so that many recipients discard them, wasting tax dollars ... (3) Whether the system of selection, printing, and distributing State government publications can be improved and made more efficient." The relevant portions of Chapter 873 and Senate Bill 1119 are included in Appendix A.

The Legislative Research Commission grouped this study in its (V.) Revenue, State Publications, and Unruly Students area under the direction Representative Josephus Mavretic. The Committee was chaired by Senator R. L. Martin and Representative R. Samuel Hunt III. The full membership of the Committee is listed in Appendix B of this report. A committee notebook containing the committee minutes and all information presented to the committee is filed in the Legislative Library.

COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS

The State Publications Study Committee met five times. Below is a brief summary of each meeting. More detailed minutes of the committee's proceedings are available in the Legislative Library of the Legislative Building.

Meeting on November 17, 1987

The first meeting of the State Publications Study Committee was held November 17, 1987 at the Legislative Building in Raleigh. Introductory remarks were made by Cochairman Senator R.L. Martin, who also reviewed the committee's budget.

Following adoption of the budget, Representative Josephus L. Mavretic, Legislative Research Commission Member, discussed the committee's charge -- to study the topic of state agency publications, evaluate their need, function and effectiveness, and make recommendations for their more efficient production.

Cheryl McLean, Assistant Documents Librarian, State Library, addressed the need for, and usefulness of many state publications, the need for publication style and printing standards, and asked for the support of the committee for the new North Carolina Documents Depository Act (G.S. 125-11.5-11.12).

John Cheney, Director of Publications Division, Secretary of State's Office, discussed the operation and publications of the Secretary of State's Office. In addition, Mr. Cheney emphasized the importance of content over form in publications, and explained how desk-top publishing was helping to produce better looking documents at lower cost.

Alice R. Cotten, Reference Historian, North Carolina Collection, Wilson Library, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, explained the resources of the North Carolina Collection -- a department of the university library. In addition, she discussed notification and distribution problems the library has with obtaining state publications.

Jeffrey Crow, Administrator, Historical Publications Section, Division of Archives and History, provided the committee with an overview of the North Carolina Historical Commission and its publications.

Patricia Langelier, Documents Librarian, Davis Library, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, spoke on behalf of the North Carolina Library Association. Ms. Langelier offered suggestions for: evaluating the usefulness of publications, distribution, and state agency publication style and production standards.

Meeting on December 18, 1987

The second meeting of the study committee was held December 18, 1987 at the Legislative Building in Raleigh. Fiscal staff reviewed the available budget data concerning publications. Committee counsel reviewed the provisions of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes governing publications. In addition, counsel reviewed publications data from other states.

Patricia Langelier, Documents Librarian, Davis Library, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, North Carolina Library Association, presented good and bad examples of state agency publications, as requested by the committee. She pointed out the importance of proper size, consistent title information, tables of contents, and proper distribution as key factors in the usefulness of a publication.

Bob Brinson of the State Budget Office discussed the printing practice of in the Office of State Budget, and the 1986 Review of Printing Operations.

Tom Whitaker, Employment Security Commission, Department of Commerce, and Gary Fuquay, Division of Social Service, Department of Human Resources presented an overview of the publications and printing practices of their respective offices.

Meeting on January 28, 1988

The third meeting of the study committee was held January 28, 1988 at the Legislative Building in Raleigh.

Staff reviewed, and the committee discussed, a proposed Legislative Survey of State Agency Publications. The committee requested staff to proceed with the survey of all state agency publications activities.

Bob Brinson of the State Auditor's Office reviewed the available data his office had comparing employees known to have editorial or publication management responsibilities to agency printing budgets.

Sam Newman of the State Auditor's Office discussed his office's procedures for publication audits. Generally, the State Auditor will investigate specific problems brought to its attention, but otherwise does not make any effort to review agency compliance with North Carolina Statutes relating to publications. Mr. Newman offered his office's services to perform a performance audit of selected state agency publication spending. The committee accepted the State Auditor's offer, and requested that the Auditor's report include recommendations to improve state printing and publication practices.

Meeting on September 14, 1988

The fourth meeting of the study committee was held September 14, 1988 at the Legislative Building in Raleigh.

Curtis Clark of the State Auditor's Office discussed the results of the performance audit of state publications requested at the committee's last meeting. Key areas covered by Mr. Clark included the need for formal guidelines for state printing and publication activities, and whether there is a need for two major state printing facilities. Details of the Auditor's recommendations can be found in the Auditor's report to the committee, located in the committee notebook in the Legislative Library.

Richard Bostic of the Fiscal staff reviewed the state publications survey , also requested at the committee's last meeting. Key findings of the survey included more than 6000 state publication titles, and only partial compliance with the statutory provisions requiring mailing list updates and printing cost disclosure statements on state publications. Details of the survey results can be found in the committee notebook, located in the Legislative Library.

At the conclusion of the meeting, staff was instructed to prepare proposed recommendations for the committee to be considered at its next meeting.

Meeting on October 21, 1988

The fifth and final meeting of the study committee was held October 21, 1988 in Raleigh.

Staff reviewed, and the committee extensively discussed proposed recommendations for the committee's final report. The committee voted to approve its final report, as amended, at the conclusion of the meeting.

A summary of the committee's findings and recommendations can be found on page 6.

FINDINGS

The Study Committee on State Publications, after a review and survey of state publications, makes the following findings:

1. A large number of publications are being produced by state agencies, universities, community colleges, and licensing boards -- over 6000 titles were discovered in the committee's survey of state publications. No consistent guidelines exist concerning state agency publication production, style, or distribution. As a result of the inconsistency in state agency publications, librarians and others are often unable to locate and distribute, and the public is unable to utilize, the many useful publications available through state agencies

2. Two large print shops, one located in the Department of Correction, the other in the Department of Administration, are serving the needs of state agencies. The State Auditor's Report to the Committee questions the need for two large print shops to accomplish the printing needs of state agencies.

3. The Committee's survey of state agency publications indicated difficulty in determining the exact cost elements involved in state printing and publications.

4. Testimony from the State Library, and other librarians affected by the State Depository Library System (G.S. 125 11.5 through 11.12) indicates the implementation of the State Depository System is proceeding, and that it is having a positive impact on state agency publication preservation and distribution.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Study Committee on State Publications makes the following recommendations to the 1989 Session of the General Assembly:

1. The Committee recommends the enactment of legislation to establish uniform guidelines for the production of State Publications.
2. The Committee recommends the enactment of legislation to direct the Department of Administration to study the need for two State print shops.
3. The Committee recommends the enactment of legislation to direct the University of North Carolina system to study the efficient operation and possible reallocation of the system's various printing facilities.
4. The Committee recommends amendment to the statement of costs for public documents, G.S. 143-170(a), include printing costs in the form of labor, and other identifiable design, typesetting, and binding costs.
